Mossberg® Enters Sponsorship with Pigman®

NORTH HAVEN, CT – Mossberg, America’s oldest family-owned and operated firearms manufacturer, has signed a multimedia sponsorship with Brian ‘Pigman’ Quaca. Included in this sponsorship is exclusive use of Mossberg handguns, shotguns and bolt-action rifles on Pigman: The Series television show, social media content and personal appearances.

Brian ‘Pigman’ Quaca, known as the ‘Sultan of Swine’ began his career by sharing his passions for hunting and trapping wild hogs in his home state of Texas. His high-energy hunting adventures lead to a fervent fan base for his long-running television show, social media posts and in-person appearances.

“Brian has created one of the most dedicated fan followings in all of outdoor entertainment as an explosive TV host, passionate hunter and long-range shooter,” commented John MacLellan, Vice President of Sales and Marketing. “Brian embodies the passion that Mossberg builds into our firearms and serves as a role model for his perseverance. We look forward to following along on his adventures.”

“I’ve been building custom guns for over 20 years, so I know a good production rifle when I see one,” commented Brian ‘Pigman’ Quaca. “Aside from their fantastic quality and durability of their products, the Mossberg company as a whole has been on the front lines of standing up for gunowners’ rights even when it affects their bottom line with retailers...and THAT IS a company I can stand behind.”

Pigman: The Series airs on Sunday at 8:30pm EST on The Sportsman Channel and re-airs three times during the following week.
