Mossberg® Releases MVP® Patrol Professional Series Bolt-Action Rifle

North Haven, CT – Mossberg has provided military and law enforcement agencies worldwide with service weapons for decades. With the introduction of Mossberg’s Professional Series of shotguns and rifles, Mossberg continues to refine these duty-ready firearms. Professional Series firearms go through an enhanced assembly and quality control process, have special finishes and features, and are optimized for performance. Joining this dedicated line is the MVP Patrol Professional Series AR-magazine compatible, bolt-action rifle available in 5.56mm NATO/223 Rem, 300 AAC Blackout, and 7.62mm NATO/308 Win with black synthetic stock and Cerakote® metal finish.

Introduced in 2011, the Mossberg MVP bolt-action rifle combined the features of Mossberg’s classic bolt-action platform with patented designs that allow the rifle to accept and reliably feed from AR15 style magazines; a first in bolt-action rifles. The 5.56mm NATO and 300 AAC Blackout models feature a patented Drop Push™ bolt design for reliably feeding from AR15-style magazines and the 7.62mm version has a patented Dual Push™ bolt design and patented Dual Latch™ system which accepts both M1A/M14 and AR10-style magazines. For added versatility, aftermarket compatible magazines provide for quicker reloads, capacity or specific load changes.

The MVP Patrol Professional Series rifles feature 16.25-inch medium bull, button-rifled and threaded barrel with A2-style muzzle brake (protective thread cap included); pillar-bedded stock for superior accuracy; over-sized bolt handle for firm grip; Mossberg’s user-adjustable LBA Trigger System (3 to 7 pounds); optimal twist rates for bullet stabilization; factory-mounted Picatinny rail for ease of adding optics; and adjustable fiber optic rifle sights (rear sight adjusts for windage and elevation). Completing the MVP Patrol package are a textured, black synthetic stock, featuring stippling on the pistol grip; sling swivel studs; and a 10-round magazine (Magpul® PMAG® magazines for 5.56mm NATO and 7.62mm NATO and aluminum magazine for 300 AAC). And unique to the Professional Series is the Cerakote Tungsten metal finish for enhanced durability.

Performance driven, versatile, and reliable, the Mossberg MVP Patrol Professional Series rifle is ready for duty. For more information on the MVP Patrol and the complete line of Professional Series firearms, please visit <https://lawenforcement.mossberg.com/>.
