Mossberg® Expands Blaze-47™ Rimfire Line with Adjustable FDE Stock Model

NORTH HAVEN, CT – O.F. Mossberg and Sons, Inc., is releasing a new adjustable, synthetic version of its lightweight, fun-to-shoot autoloading rimfire rifle: the Blaze-47 Synthetic with Flat Dark Earth (FDE) / Black finishes combined with a 6-position adjustable stock and 25-round magazine. Replicating the look and feel of the widely-popular AK-47 rifle, this rimfire is perfect for a day in the field; plinking, target shooting or pursuing small game.

Built on our innovative Blaze rifle design, which utilizes the durability and lightweight characteristics of today's highly-engineered polymers, the Blaze-47 has a molded polymer receiver and action with metal bolt, firing pin and bolt handle. The compact 16.5-inch free-floating barrel has a 1:16 twist rate. And completing the Blaze platform are ambidextrous thumb-safety and easy, spring-loading magazines.

Adding to its distinctive look, this Blaze-47 has adjustable fiber optic rear sight and raised front rifle sight. The lever-activated, 6-position adjustable synthetic stock has a range of adjustment from 11 – 14.25 inches and wears a FDE finish. Mossberg has also incorporated its user-friendly, no tools required, FLEX™ TLS System on the stock allowing the recoil pad to be easily interchanged for other sizes of FLEX recoil pads (sold separately), adding to the adjustability of this rifle.

Young or old, the Blaze-47 is a lightweight, affordable and fun-to-shoot rimfire. To see Mossberg's complete line of autoloading, bolt-action and lever-action rimfire rifles, please visit www.mossberg.com.
