Mossberg® Offers Two New Versions of 930® Autoloading Shotgun
9-Shot Tactical and 26-Inch Synthetic Field Guns

North Haven, CT – Mossberg’s series of dependable, smooth-operating 12-gauge autoloading shotguns has two new members – the 930 Tactical 8-Shot and 930 Field version with versatile 26-inch barrel length. Both feature durable, black synthetic stocks and forends with matte blue metal finishes. Thanks to the 930 dual gas-vent operating system, these multi-purpose autoloaders can handle 2 ¾-inch target loads as reliably as hard-pounding 3-inch magnum rounds.

Standard features on the 930 series include full-length stock with Mossberg’s adjustable Stock Drop System, allowing the user to adjust the vertical angle of the stock for more instinctive eye alignment; drilled and tapped receivers for the convenience of adding sights or optics; quick-empty magazine release button for ease of unloading rounds; sling swivel studs; and top-mounted, ambidextrous safety. The gas-operating system also aids in recoil reduction and reduces wear/stress on operating parts.

The 930 Tactical 8-Shot features a 18.5-inch cylinder bore barrel with single bead sight. The extended magazine tube allows for the increased capacity of eight with 2 ¾-inch shells. The 930 Field has a 26-inch vent rib barrel with light-gathering, fiber optic front sight, versatile ACCU-CHOKE™ set of choke tubes (Full, Modified and Improved Cylinder) and standard five-round capacity.

Rugged, reliable and smooth-operating describes Mossberg series of 930 semi-auto shotguns. To see the newest members of the family and the complete line of hunting (waterfowl, turkey, deer and all-purpose field) and tactical/home defense models, please visit our web site at www.mossberg.com.
